18 Defendants.)

19 Defendant Metabo Corporation ("Metabo") submits this reply memorandum in response to 20 Plaintiff's Objection to Metabo's motion to stay this case pending the United States Patent and 21 Trademark Office's ("PTO") reexaminations of U.S. Patent No. 4,935,184 (the "'184 patent").

22 I.

23 Preliminary Statement

24 In its motion to stay these proceedings, Metabo established that a stay pending reexamination 25 of the '184 patent is appropriate based on the early stage of this case, the lack of prejudice to 26 Plaintiff, and the fact that the PTO's findings will simplify the issues in this case. Further, Metabo 27 identified five related cases which this Court stayed pending reexamination of the '184 patent, the 28 same patent at issue in the present case. Since Metabo filed this motion, this Court has stayed at least fourteen additional cases pending reexamination of the '184 patent. Plaintiff has failed to 1 demonstrate why this case should be treated any differently than the others. It would be a waste of 2 this Court's resources, as well as those of the parties, to litigate any issues in this case prior to 3 reexamination because it is likely that the PTO will invalidate or significantly modify the scope of 4 the claims in the '184 patent. In light of the stays granted by this Court in other pending cases

 5 involving Plaintiff and the '184 patent, Plaintiff will not be prejudiced by a stay of this case.
 6 Accordingly, this Court should grant Metabo's motion.

7 II.

8 Argument

9 A. Plaintiff Has Failed to Distinguish This Case From Others That Have Been Stayed 10 Pending Reexamination of the '184 Patent.

11 As discussed in Metabo's motion to stay, this Court already has stayed several related cases 12 involving the '184 patent pending reexamination by the PTO. See Sorensen v. Black & Decker 13 Corp., 2007 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 66712 (S.D. Cal. Sept. 10, 2007), attached as Exhibit C to the 14 Declaration of Jeffrey Lewin filed in support of Metabo's motion to stay ("Lewin Declaration"); 15 Sorensen v. Giant International, No. 07cv2121 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 28, 2008), attached as Exhibit D to 16 the Lewin Declaration; Sorensen v. Esseplast (USA) NC, Inc., No. 07cv2277 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 19, 17 2008), attached as Exhibit E to the Lewin Declaration; Sorensen v. Energizer Holdings Inc., No.
 18 07cv2321 (S.D. Cal. Mar. 19, 2008), attached as Exhibit F to the Lewin Declaration; Sorensen v.
 19 Helen of Troy, 07cv2278 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 28, 2008), attached as Exhibit G to the Lewin Declaration.
 20 Since Metabo filed its motion to stay, this Court has stayed at least fourteen additional cases 21 involving the patent at issue.

22 In objecting to Metabo's motion to stay, Plaintiff has failed to establish why this Court
 23 should treat this case any differently from Plaintiff's other cases alleging infringement of the '184 24 patent. Certainly the timing of Metabo's motion to stay – filed before discovery has even begun – is 25 not a distinction, since this Court found no injustice in ordering a stay one year after the 26 commencement of the Black & Decker litigation despite the exchange of "substantial amounts of 27 discovery." Exhibit C to the Lewin Declaration, at p. 6. Similarly, despite Plaintiff's claim that the 28 ex parte nature of the proceeding before the PTO means that "a stay pending completion of the 1 reexamination will not simplify any issues," (Objection at p. 6), this Court already has determined in 2 related cases that awaiting reexamination of the '184 patent will simplify litigation of Plaintiff's 3 infringement claims because the parties and Court will have the benefit of the PTO's expertise on the 4 subject patent. Exhibit C to the Lewin Declaration at pp. 8-9.

5 Plaintiff's Objection simply recycles his previously unsuccessful arguments that he will be 6 unduly prejudiced by the delay. Plaintiff argues that he will be prejudiced by (1) the potential loss of 7 evidence¹ and (2) the fact that, according to his own research, the PTO's reexamination of the '184
 8 patent could take "in excess of seven years" and is unlikely to result in cancellation of all the claims 9 of the patent. Objection at p. 2. However, as this Court stated in granting Black & Decker's motion 10 to stay, although "[p]rotracted delay is always a risk inherent in granting a stay," the delay caused by 11 a stay in proceedings pending reexamination of the '184 patent "is especially inconsequential where 12 Plaintiff himself waited as many as twelve years before bringing the present litigation." Exhibit C to 13 Lewin Declaration at p. 7 (citation omitted). In fact, in Black & Decker, this Court found that it was 14 the defendants who "would potentially be prejudiced by failing to enter a stay" since any decision 15 reached by this Court would not bind the PTO in its reexamination, raising the real possibility of 16 inconsistent judgments for which defendants would have no legal recourse. Id. at pp. 7 - 8
 17 (emphasis added) (citing Bausch & Lomb, Inc. v. Alcon Lab., Inc., 914 F. Supp. 951, 952 18 (W.D.N.Y. 1996)).

19 Because Plaintiff has failed to establish why the Court should deny a stay to Metabo when 20 this Court repeatedly has found that the key factors of 1) stage of litigation; 2) undue prejudice; and 21 3) simplification of the issues, all militate in favor of a stay of litigation pending reexamination of

 24
 25 ¹ However, Plaintiff fails to cite any "specific, valid reasons to believe that [he] needs to obtain discovery in order to 26 preserve evidence that will otherwise be unavailable after the stay." See Sorensen v. Giant International, No. 07cv2121
 27 (S.D. Cal. Feb. 28, 2008), attached as Exhibit D to the Lewin Declaration, at p. 1; see also Exhibit E to the Lewin
 28 Declaration at p. 1; Exhibit F to the Lewin Declaration at p. 1; Exhibit G to the Lewin Declaration at p. 2; see also Sorensen v. Star Asia USA, LLC, No. 08cv307, May 23, 2008 Order Granting Partial Stay at p. 2.

1 the '184 patent, this Court should grant Metabo's motion to stay. See Exhibit C to the Lewin
 2 Declaration at p. 5, (citing Xerox Corp. v. 3Com Corp., 69 F. Supp.2d 404, 406 (W.D.N.Y. 1999)).²

3 B. Litigating Defenses to Plaintiff's Allegation of Infringement Is Illogical Given the 4 Potential for a Finding of Patent Invalidity by the PTO.

5 Plaintiff appears to argue in the alternative that even if a stay of proceedings relating to the 6 reexaminations is warranted, the Court should issue only a partial stay. Although this Court granted
 7 a partial stay in Black & Decker, the only exceptions to the stay were two pending motions. Exhibit 8 C to Lewin Declaration at p. 10. No such motions are pending in this case. Nevertheless, Plaintiff 9 argues that the parties should proceed to litigate procedural issues and affirmative defenses that do 10 not fall within the "narrow spectrum" of reexamination, as well as some affirmative defenses which 11 "partially overlap with the pending reexamination proceedings." Objection at pp. 3, 5. For example, 12 Plaintiff argues that issues of venue and failure to state a claim should be litigated despite the 13 pending reexaminations, citing this Court's May 23, 2008 order granting a partial stay in the Star 14 Asia case, No. 08cv307. See Objection at p. 4. This argument lacks merit. First, in Star Asia, this 15 Court did not permit the issue of Plaintiff's failure to state a claim to be litigated as an exception to 16 the stay, and should not do so in this case. Second, as Metabo has no intention of challenging venue,

 18 ² Plaintiff's description of statistics pertaining to the reexamination process is both incomplete and inconsistent with the 19 actual facts. For instance, plaintiff states that "only 10 percent of all re-examination requests granted by the PTO result 20 in cancellation of all claims of a patent" referencing the Kramer declaration, paragraph 5 and Exhibit B thereto.
 21 Opposition at p. 1. Assuming that the plaintiff is referencing Section 8(b) of Exhibit B to the Kramer declaration entitled 22 "Ex Parte Reexamination filing data - March 31, 2008", plaintiff fails to point out to the Court that the data in section
 23 8(a) also indicates that reexamination certificates issued with all claims confirmed in only 26 percent of the cases. Since 24 the present claims cannot be amended and must be either confirmed as is or canceled, there is, according to the statistics 25 cited by plaintiff, a 74 percent chance of the claims being rejected and canceled completely.

26 Plaintiff further states that he "has conducted its own research and found over 90 completed re-examinations that took in 27 excess of seven years to complete" and "many other re-examinations for which no certificate has yet issued after many 28 years in the re-examination process" referencing Appendix A and B to the Opposition. Opposition at p. 2. However, Exhibit B to the Kramer declaration entitled "Ex Parte Reexamination filing data - March 31, 2008", Section 1 and footnote 1 indicates that as of March 31, 2008 over 9250 re-examination requests have been filed and therefore, the number of reexaminations (both completed and not completed) cited by the plaintiff (approximately 116) as taking "in excess of seven years" or "many years" is in fact only 1 percent of the total number of reexamination requests filed since the start of the Ex Parte reexamination process.

1 there is no reason to carve out an exception to the stay for that issue.³

2 Other than the Star Asia case, plaintiff cites no authority in support of his argument that 3 litigation of Metabo's affirmative defenses should proceed. Most likely, the lack of precedent is due 4 to the fact that the notion of litigating defenses to a potentially groundless claim is illogical.
 5 Moreover, permitting the parties to proceed with discovery and litigation of Metabo's defenses of 6 patent invalidity and unenforceability (see Objection at p. 5) pending the PTO's reexamination of the 7 '184 patent directly contradicts this Court's repeated finding that a stay of proceedings is warranted 8 because "[o]ne purpose of the reexamination procedure is to eliminate trial of [the issue of patent 9 claim validity]". See Exhibit C to the Lewin Declaration at p. 8 (quoting Gould v. Control Laser 10 Corp., 705 F.2d 1340, 1342 (Fed. Cir. 1983), cert. denied, 464 U.S. 935 (1983)); see also Cygnus 11 Telecomms. Tech., LLC v. United World Telecom, L.C., 385 F. Supp. 2d 1022, 1024 (N.D. Cal.
 12 2005) ("If the USPTO cancels any of the 21 claims asserted in the two patents, infringement and 13 validity issues that could potentially be raised in any of the multiple litigations consolidated before 14 this court would be resolved."). Similarly, why should Metabo and this Court be required to expend 15 resources to litigate the question of whether Plaintiff's claims are barred by laches, estoppel or 16 waiver given the possibility that the PTO will find the '184 patent is invalid? Plaintiff does not 17 explain the benefit of litigating affirmative defenses at this time, nor does he explain why delaying 18 resolution of such matters would cause him any greater prejudice than staying the entirety of the 19 litigation – which this Court repeatedly has held will not cause undue prejudice to Plaintiff, who will 20 retain the right to seek monetary damages for infringement should the PTO uphold the validity of the 21 '184 patent. The only persons who would benefit from a partial stay would be the lawyers who are 22 paid for their time, and their gain would come at the expense of the Court and the parties.

 26 ³ Plaintiff has not yet served co-defendant Metabowerke GMBH, a German corporation. Metabo cannot comment on 27 Metabowerke GMBH's position with respect to the question of venue or personal jurisdiction.

3 CONCLUSION

5 For the foregoing reasons, this case should be stayed pending the outcome of the 6 reexaminations of the '184 patent.

26 (except for facsimile transmission), addressed as shown below, for service as designated below:

27 A. BY U.S. MAIL. I am readily familiar with Sullivan, Hill, Lewin, Rez & Engel's practice of collection and processing correspondence for mailing. Under that practice, documents are 28 deposited with the U.S. Postal Service on the same day which is stated in the proof of 1 service, with postage fully prepaid at San Diego, California in the ordinary course of 2 business. I am aware that on motion of party served, service is presumed invalid if the postal 3 cancellation date or postage meter date is more than one day after the date stated in this proof 4 of service.

5 B. BY FACSIMILE machine pursuant to Rule 2008(e). The recipient's name and fax number 6 that I used are as shown below. The facsimile machine that I used complied with Rule 7 2003(3) and no error was reported by the machine. Pursuant to Rule 2008(e)(4), a 8 transmission report was properly issued by the transmitting facsimile machine.

9 C. OVERNITE EXPRESS. I caused such envelopes to be deposited in the Overnite Express 10 Drop Box at San Diego, California.

11 I am personally and readily familiar with the business practice of this office for 12 collection and processing correspondence for Overnite Express mailing. Under that 13 practice it would be dropped in the drop box for the Overnite Express Service on that
